

One shot, one sought in armed theft fiasco

BELLE GLADE—At least one man was shot and law enforcement officers were staging a manhunt for another Wednesday in the wake of an armed robbery felled by Jerome Woodham of Woodham's Market on East Canal Street South.

Belle Glade Police, Palm Beach Sheriff's Deputies and Florida Highway Patrol Troopers were concentrating their efforts in a wooded area between Canal Street and Southeast Avenue G in the vicinity of Southeast Ninth Street press time for The Herald.

Police had already picked up the man and transported to Glades General Hospital one man who had been shot in the hip by Woodham but information on his identity and the extent of his wounds were still sketchy at 1:30 p.m.

Woodham said the two men came into the store shortly before 10 a.m. and gathered some groceries until other customers in the market had left, then asked him for some meat kept in a freezer chest near the door.

"When I bent over to get the meat," he said, "the one behind me grabbed me around the chin, pulled my head up and back and stuck a butcher knife in my belly."

Woodham said he reached around behind him with his pistol, a .38 caliber police special and shot the man in the hip or stomach, he wasn't sure which.

After the shot, he said, the two ran out the door and he followed them as one ran towards Tabit Road and the other raced west on Canal Street.

"I know I got the one behind me," Woodham said, "and I think I hit the one (on Canal Street). I was aiming at the other one but a car came along and I couldn't shoot at him."

"They didn't get anything but I got their butcher knife," he said. Woodham said he fired his pistol twice at the two.

Police officers picked up the man who ran down Canal Street after he "had reached" Southeast Canal Street as police units converged on a tract of land overgrown in weeds just down the block, believing they had the other man surrounded in the weeds.

A search of that area, using a dog, failed however and a report the fugitive had been seen crossing Ninth Street lured officers into another area. They were still searching that area at press time.

Deputy Belle Glade Police Chief D. Bill Mathis said that as of 11:15 a.m. the first robber had already been treated at the hospital, for a bullet wound in the fleshy part of the buttocks, and had been released to police.

He was identified as Roscoe Jasper Barrett, 21, of 264 S.W. Eighth St. in Belle Glade.

Officers were still looking for the second man at 1:30.

The hunt for the second robber assumed a circus atmosphere Wednesday as sightseers moved in close to offer sidewalk supervision to the officers on Ninth Street near Cove Elementary School. In the meantime, these two deputies used a shed for a perch and an over-view.

SAVING HALF the cost for moving sounds pretty good to us but we wonder if Richmond saved 50 percent of their costs when they moved from their former quarters on Southeast First Street and left all that rubble behind. Or are they talking about 50 percent of the rubble they could take with them?

Overtime pay is cut

South Bay work rules are revised

SOUTH BAY—Overtime pay for police dispatchers and the city fire fighters fell victim Tuesday night to economy measures taken by the City Commission in budget discussions, which included measures to upgrade city fire protection.

Police Commissioner Vernita Cox said the dispatcher overtime should have been eliminated by the recent employment of a fifth dispatcher, who is working the day shift along with the chief dispatcher.

While Manpower pays the dispatchers' salaries, Grigby explained, for up to 40 hours a week, time cards in the past several months have indicated dispatchers working over 40 hours on a regular basis.

He said there have also been several cases when the dispatchers would claim pay for days they were out sick, although Manpower doesn't allow for sick pay.

In another area, Grigby said the city's two firefighters have demanded to work and be paid for 56 hours a week while Manpower, who pays their wages, will only pay for up to 52 hours.

"I don't see why they can't take a day a week off," Grigby said.

"All they do is sit around on call," Grigby said he had been advised the city could handle the situation by paying the extra four hours a week or by cutting back on the hours worked.

He said he intended to cut back on the hours worked and claimed by the two firefighters and there was no objection from the commissioners although Fire Commissioner Woodrow "Woody" O'Neal said that kind of move wouldn't bring the city any closer to full fire protection.

"You say you want to cut back on their hours on the one hand," O'Neal said, "and then you say you want full coverage. The only way we can get full coverage is to have someone here 24 hours a day."

"That's the only way we'll ever get insurance rates lowered," he urged the commissioners to consider hiring a third man with city funds and, with the tacit approval of the other commissioners, said he would send a man he knows by to see Grigby in the next few days.

While talking about the fire department, Public Works Director Lomax Harrelle said the city probably doesn't have enough water to fight a fire of any size. Because of an overloaded water system, Harrelle and Grigby agreed the city probably wouldn't have enough water in reserve in the system at any time to provide the pressure needed should a major fire break out.

Mayor Don Tanner asked Grigby whether he'd inquired about hooking up to the Belle Glade water system again, a project he'd been asked at the last regular session to look into. The connection would involve laying a new line along SR80 to SR175, where the two cities had been connected before construction began on four-laning the road.

Grigby said he hadn't had a chance to do anything about the connection yet but he would give it a high priority.

Harrelle also urged the commission to consider extending the city's raw water intake in the Rim Canal across the canal to a dynamite hole, a distance of about a quarter mile.

"I know you've said in the past it's too expensive," he said, "but I just want you to know we're going to have to do something in the near future. We're pumping mud now and the chlorides are too high in the Rim Canal and at the rock pit. The water in that dynamite hole is so deep you wouldn't believe it," Harrelle said.

Sugar Subdivision agreements are approved

BELLE GLADE—The City Commission gave final approval Monday night to the form of the agreements between the city and buyers of property in Sugar Subdivision West, the 32 lots which went on sale a week ago Tuesday.

City Clerk June Boglioli said later five of the lots have already been sold and there have been a number of requests in her office at the city hall annex about the lots, along with some complaining about the city's requirement that the lots be paid off within 90 days and construction completed a year after the date of purchase.

Those provisions came as a result of the commissioners' desire that the property be bought and built on by people who want to live there, not buy the land for an investment.

The purchase price of lots is $5,845 each, with $155 closing costs which brings the total price for the buyer up to $6,000. The city is requiring at least $600 down, which reverts to the city if the balance isn't paid within 90 days.

Should construction not be completed within a year after the lot is sold, the city reserves an option to buy the property back for the $5,845 original cost and maintains that option for two years.

"That takes care of everything but the current year's taxes," City Attorney John Baker said. "The taxes haven't been said for this year and there will be no pro-rata sharing. The purchaser is responsible for paying the taxes for the entire year."

as Farmer walks out City commissioners are outmaneuvered

BELLE GLADE—Surprise and chagrin are normal reactions to being "slickered" and City Commissioner Aubrey Farmer left Mayor Ralph Kirk and Commissioner Tom Altman with their mouths virtually hanging open Monday night.

Farmer was apparently outmaneuvered and outgunned last week during a commission workshop when he made it plain he intended to vote against a plan to create administrative assistant for the city manager and to do away with the personnel manager's position.

Kirk and Altman argued for the proposal at that time and had the support of Commissioner Kenneth Harris while Commissioner William Greer said he wasn't sure which way he would vote.

The veteran politician was outnumbered again Monday night when the resolution came up and only he, Kirk and Altman were present and neither would second his motion to postpone action.

But experience told the tale when Farmer turned the two-to-one disadvantage to his purposes as Altman moved to adopt the resolution and Kirk vacated the chair to second the motion.

"I don't believe you're going to pass this tonight," Farmer commented as he got up and left the other two without a quorum to hold a vote.

When Altman moved to postpone the resolution action until the next regular meeting, Farmer re-seated himself, seconded the motion and Kirk joined to make it unanimous.

"I wish I'd thought of that," Altman said, "when the trailer permit (an earlier item in which he'd disagreed with Kirk and Farmer) came up."

Social Security office to open here

BELLE GLADE—An office designed to provide the Glades with full Social Security services is expected to open in Belle Glade by Sept. 1 according to an announcement this week by U.S. Congressman Paul Rogers.

Located across SR 715 from the Florida State Employment Service office, the facility will be known as a Full Time Contact Station, with three employees commuting from West Palm Beach initially to handle the work load.

Rogers said the Social Security office is only part of the space being taken up by the new building. The federal office will take up 600 square feet and the rest of the building will house private offices.

District Social Security Director Ted

Haxton of West Palm Beach said the local office will be working under the coastal office.

"Right now," Haxton said, "we have someone out there two days a week in Belle Glade and one day in Pahokee. But the demand for service has grown so great a lot of people have to wait four hours for service. We want to cure that situation."

He said Social Security has been using office space donated by three other agencies and the new building will provide the first office space only for Social Security. He said the office will be leased through the General Services Administration.

"What we're after," he said, "is to provide the same kind of service in the Glades as a person can get here."

We always hate to see a "success story" leave the Glades, but sometimes a man must leave.

Such is the case with Don Gentles, minister of the Christian Church at the corner of Fourth Street and Canal.

There are those who would say a 25-member church isn't much of a success story, but considering Don built the church from scratch, starting out with absolutely nothing, is a tribute to the drive and hard work he and his wife put into it.

Don came to Belle Glade just under five years ago, fresh out of Atlantic Christian College in Georgia. "I figured while I was young, I'd give it a try," he said, and started his church.

There was no building available so he and his wife, Diana, purchased an old duplex and began working. They ripped out the inside and paneled, fixed the roof, and undertook other "extensive remodeling" that has resulted in a small, but efficient church.

During this time, Diana was supporting Don by working in several places. At various times, she was employed by the local Food Stamp office, the Florida First National Bank, and Sears.

The first church meetings were held in an elementary school and fewer than 20 people attended. Since that the church has grown to 25 active members with a top attendance of over 50.

The couple have been transferred to Merritt Island where he will take charge of the Third Century Christian Church, certainly a step up in anybody's book.

In Don's place, Meade Peirce will be assuming temporary command of the Belle Glade Church. We wish both of them all the luck in the world.

We've been getting some interesting comments from our subscribers since we started our subscription. One notice was mailed out recently.

And we're happy to have them. Some of the suggestions have been put into practice.

Among others, Peggy Young of Williamsburg, Va. wrote that she was renewing her subscription and asked us to "please staple the sections together so many, many times I receive one or no sections."

Well, we took her suggestion to heart and began stapling the "out of town" papers together. But I'm wondering if this is going to work...those staples look like they could cause a guy with a sharp hammer and cold chisel problems.

If you have any comments, please write. We'd like to hear from you.

Enjoyed a talk Friday with James Wall, one of Belle Glades old timers and a man who would command respect in any quarter. Right now, there is a tremendous amount of controversy revolving around Lake Okechobee and its "dying" and the Kissimmee River and its channelization.

Mr. Wall said he feels the straightening of the Kissimmee was a mistake (which the Corps of Engineers and the flood control districts will argue), and made some interesting observations.

He said folks on the coast have us out-numbered and out-voted which isn't anything new, and through ignorance on the part, don't know or care about the problems in the Glades.

Us Muckrats have been saying that for years, but we really haven't been doing much about it. Mr. Wall said about the only time the Glades are highlighted on the coast is during a dry period, when they begin to look with envy at the mass of water to the west of us.

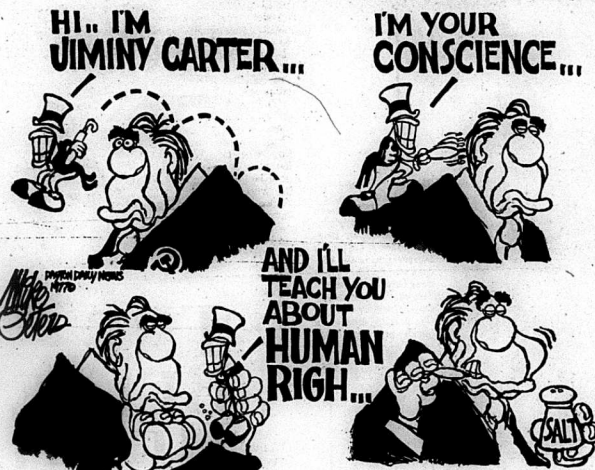

And many folks on the coast feel that "so long as we have grocery stores, we won't have problems with food." It's an attitude that's scary.

While some of the larger agribusinesses have been doing what they can to enlighten city folks as to where all that grocery store food really comes from, it's not enough.

Maybe each one of us should do our part as "mini-public relations types" for agriculture and consequently, our own good.

So, when you're on the coast for shopping, entertainment, or whatever, in contact with people there, give them a little personal insight. It'd be much good than all the news releases anybody can send out.

This reform is suckerbait

It's a never-ending wonder how tax reforms seem to reform a little more income for the state from the taxpayers' collective pocket.

The latest reform we've heard about is the attractive offer of lowering property taxes but that appetizing little tid bit is on the end of a mile-long string and has fish hooks all through it.

The obvious string attached is the part easily seen and it's the part being shown by sponsor Gus Craig (D-St. Augustine) who happens to be the House Rules Chairman, to distract us from the hooks embedded in the offer.

Like the fact most state residents would pay more through the "painless" sales tax than through property taxes, which are limited by statute.

Like the fact that eliminating the property tax for education would require about $800 million more in state taxes to make up the loss of income to cities and counties; so Craig, who doesn't seem ready to go quite that far, figures to simply place a four mill cap on education.

Which means a person living in a $20,000 home would save a grand total of $460 a year.

But one of Craig's most effectively hidden hooks is a provision for starting an advertising tax. And that's the part of gold for the state to tap is fool's gold, friend.

It flies in the face of legal precedent that advertising is "commercial speech," protected by the First Amendment.

It's discriminatory because the bill Craig is attempting to push through also calls for a tax on professional services, which specifically exempts physicians, pharmacists and the construction industry.

It discriminates against Florida merchants because, like it or not, there is no way to tax national ads, either in print or broadcasting media and there is no way to tax broadcasters from out of state, like right across the Georgia and Alabama lines.

That means you, Royal's; you, Badcock; you, Glades Mercantile; you, Siboney Motors; you, Mr. Businessman, so business, whether you live in Belle Glade, South Bay or Pahokee and advertise in any way, you're going to be paying the tax, not the big boys.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The members of Belle Glade Community United Methodist Church deeply appreciate the excellent publicity and space you gave, over a period of several weeks, to our recent living dramatization of Leonardo da Vinci's inspirational picture, The Last Supper.

The various details of the event, and pictures you personally took and printed, were very time consuming, but your efforts given to the publicity contributed greatly to the large attendance and tremendous success of the final presentation, and for all these we are very grateful, and say a heartfelt thank you.

May I also personally commend The Herald for your willingness to publicize activities of all our area churches, greatly encouraging and uplifting a helpful moral tone to our fine community.

Very Sincerely,
Miriam Dulany

And if you think, Mr. Glades Resident, that Everglades Federal, Win Dixie or Tom Bonavia are going to absorb that extra cost, just remember that corporations don't pay taxes, people pay taxes. Those extra costs can and will be passed along to you.

Which means you'll probably be buying less since prices will be higher. Either that or if the merchant tries to cut costs by cutting advertising, he won't be selling as much.

Either way, it won't exactly spur the Glades economy on to bigger and better things.

That's the so-attractive package Gus Craig wants to pass during this legislature.

It's a package that's been tried by North Dakota, Iowa and the City of Baltimore and has since been repealed by all three of them.

It's a Pandora's Box the people of Florida can do without opening.

Chancey

A move afoot in the Florida legislature to make it as easy for voters to register at the state level as President Jimmy Carter wants to make registration in federal elections could completely change the face of elections in the state.

Discussion has just started in Congress on President Carter's idea of how voting should be made easier but Rep. Ed Healey of West Palm Beach, who happens to be heading up the Palm Beach County Legislative Delegation this year, wants to extend that ease to everyone in the state and he's prepared a bill to that effect.

Healey's bill, co-sponsored by House Speaker Don Tucker, would reportedly give anyone the right to register to vote at the same time they go to the polls to cast their ballot, making the whole operation in one painless visit.

The question a lot of people, and we're among them, have, is just how easy would that same bill make it for unscrupulous candidates, or their supporters, to perpetrate election fraud on the state.

The only assurances we've received so far on the federal level is that the legislation would include a stiff punishment for fraud.

That's okay so far as it goes but who's going to enforce it? The penalty for vote fraud may not be as harsh now as it would be under the new penalty but it's all but unenforced, anyway, with the requirement of registering before the books close more than a month before the election.

The fines are provided but neither the state nor the County have the personnel to check the information filled in when a person registers with the Supervisor of Elections Office; at least there's no check unless someone complains that fraud has been done.

The fact is, the average person could probably get away with voting more than once right now. Any doubt? Check your own voter registration card. Then think back to what kind of proof was required when you registered that you were who you said you were or that you lived where you said you did.

Sure, a person might be caught after the election if someone complained and a cross check was run, and he'd used the same name for two or more cards.

But Jimmy the Greek would probably give long odds against that happening. And the odds would jump from astronomical to out-of-sight if the same person registered in two or more counties.

Besides, it may not be worth the effort. If a person doesn't think it's worthwhile now, with registration as easy as it is, to register, he can't be very interested in who governs him. How is that concern going to grow by making it even easier?

Maybe the move ought to be to make registration a tad more difficult instead of the way we're going now.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

April Fool Day lived up to itself for me this year.

I've even come to the conclusion that if there are Easter Rabbits, Christmas Elves, Halloween Hobgoblins and Thanksgiving's Great Pumpkin, there must be an April Fool Fester and he must've cracked a funny bone laughing the first of the month.

What's better day to go to the dentist?

Some people are scared of seeing a dentist. I was talking to a friend of mine a couple of days before the big event and he told me he doesn't even like the idea of having a needle stuck in his jawbone to deaden the pain.

The last time I saw a dentist, he said, "I told him I wanted gas, not the needle and he started giving me some all right. He kept asking me if I felt anything and I told him yes and he finally told me if he gave me anymore gas, I was going to go completely under and I told that's exactly what I wanted."

The only thing I want in my mouth while I'm awake and in that chair," he said, "is a mirror. I can live with that."

"Sounds like you have a fear of having things in your mouth," I said, and he put me straight right out. "Not at all. I'm not afraid at all. What it is, is terror."

Now, I feel more than a tad sorry for a fellow like that. I guess I've always been lucky that when I go to a dentist, I never have minded his poking around the old gums and teeth. It's the pain of needles, drilling and whatnot that I have a decided aversion to.

And I agree with him. Fear doesn't enter into it at all. Fear doesn't come close to describing the sensation I feel. Terror ain't exactly the word either.

Fear is what you feel about getting mugged on a dark street. Terror is when you hear footsteps behind you in a dark alley, with a sleeping city around you, and you feel the cold breath of something unknown on the nape of your neck, making the hairs there stand to attention.

The word ain't been coined to describe what I've been scared down in that chair and had the bib chained around my neck. A lot of people may not even think about that bib but that's when my imagination starts to wander.

"Here I am getting the bib put over my head," thinks imagination as he is being up an stairs to move, "because if the bib weren't around my neck, my shirt will get all bloody when the fun starts and the old Doc Don't want to see me cleaning bill when paper's cheaper."

Besides, bloodstains don't come out all that easy.

That's about the time I leave fear behind and approach terror, in a sense, a fetching little hunchbacked creature garbed in white, even to a white eye patch, whom the dentist fondly refers to as Igor, loving lays out the glittering instruments of torturing and imagination shifts into over-drive.

Be kind! Why do they have to lay those stainless steel offspring of the rack and thumbscrew right out in front of your face?

Those forceps! Forceps? "My God, forget about the teeth," I'm muttering by now, "he can go right to the root of the matter and work out the whole lower jaw!" The mental picture is devastating and that's not the end of it.

I don't even want to think about those cold chisels and the hammer; muttering by now, "he can go right to the root of the matter and work out the whole lower jaw!" But there ain't no avoiding the harpoon-sized syringe with the twisted needles. I've been gotten the jugged tip when I did to death some overgrown Moby Dick.

And, of course, that's the first thing Doc picks up when he walks in the room and that's when I invent my form of anesthesia.

Just as that harpoon was poised over my mouth, I knew I'd had it and right on schedule my whole life flashed before my eyes. Only trouble was it was so boring, I dropped off to sleep.

By the time I woke up, it was all over. No sweat, no pain, no feeling, no teeth. Now if I can't figure out a way of bottling acute terror...

Local Lions sponsor Dale Carnegie Course

Glades businessmen were treated to lunch and an explanation of the famed Dale Carnegie Course Thursday and Friday at the Holiday Inn in Belle Glade.

The course, which is being sponsored locally by the Belle Glade Lions Club, was explained by "Buddy" Folkner.

Folkner said the course is the same that is taught world-wide and was developed by Dale Carnegie in 1915. He said over 2,000,000 people have completed the 14-week program. Many companies, among them Duda and Sons and South Bay Growers, send some of their employees to the course.

Basically, he told the group Thursday, the course helps to develop latent leadership skills and attitudes. The person only uses 10 percent of his ability and the course can add another 5 percent to that, resulting in much greater memory, self confidence, effective communication, and enthusiasm.

Folkner gave a demonstration of self confidence. He held up a potato, and a straw and said he had enough self confidence to drive the paper straw through the potato.

Few in the audience appeared to have enough self confidence in him, but he showed them by doing just that.

He also demonstrated his "trained memory" by having the businessmen in the audience list 15 items, then recall them by either number or item.

One of the toughest problems any business faces, said Folkner, is effective communication, and the course helps develop this ability by instilling confidence in the individual.

A positive attitude is a help to any business and this is one of the areas the course seeks to improve in the individual.

In human relations, Folkner told the group 85 percent of a group of fired people his company interviewed were let go not because they weren't doing the job, but because of their inability to get along with their fellow employees.

Folkner said the course will be

Highwaymen are sought

LAKE HARBOR—Sheriff's deputies are still looking for a pair of modern highwaymen who stopped and robbed a trucker in the pre-dawn hours Saturday on US 27.

Deputy Marvin Padgett reported Homer Edgar Thompson, 42, of Hendersonville, N.C. and Winna, was driving his straight truck load of vegetables north on 27 when the two highwaymen pulled alongside him in a late-model Buick and called out to him he was losing a wheel.

Thompson pulled off the road and while he was checking his rear wheels, one of the two men, this black man about 6'2", weighing about 175 pounds with a short afro style, cocked his fist as though to strike the truck driver.

Thompson told officers he blocked the blow with his arm but felt a pistol in the man's fist, causing him to drop his arms to his sides. The robber pointed "what appeared to be a .38 caliber revolver" in Thompson's face and told him, "If you move, I'll blow your damn brains out."

The trucker told Padgett the other man, described as a light-complexioned black with a pot belly, about 5'8" weighing about 200 pounds, clean-shaven and with short hair, stepped up to him and repeated the warning of the taller robber.

The shorter man then taped Thompson's wrists behind his back, told him to lay down on the shoulder of the road, "and put you nose in the dirt," then taped his legs.

Padgett said the two men took Thompson's wallet, containing $54. Times writewatch and ripped the microphone from the CB radio in the truck cab before jumping into the Buick, crossing the median and speeding off southward.

The truck driver then drove the two miles into Clewiston before notifying law enforcement officers. Since the incident occurred 2.5 miles south of the county line, Hendry County Sheriff's deputies turned the matter over to the Belle Glade sub-office, district of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office.

Third Street zoning decision still not made

BELLE GLADE—The City Commission took no action Monday night, and indicated no action will be taken, after hearing the opinion of City Attorney John Baker the city has no legal right to take back the building permit issued for a misplaced apartment building.

The permit has been the source of a concerted protest, by a number of residents on Southwest Third Street, where contractor Roe Steele began building a fourplex apartment unit to find later he had begun construction on the wrong lot.

The fourplex was supposed to have been built on two lots owned by Mrs. Agnes Dorsey but is actually placed on adjacent property owned by Kenneth Knowles.

When Steele discovered his mistake, Knowles agreed to have the apartment built on his property, in spite of a decision by the city commission in the meantime to change all the zoning along the block to R-1 single family residential.

As Baker pointed out in his opinion, another building permit was issued to Knowles before the zoning change was official and the neighbors, headed by Freddie Harrell, engaged attorney Frank Kreidler to represent them in an attempt to have the commission revoke the building permit.

Baker pointed out in his opinion that retroactively applied laws have never been favored in American courts, and although there is a considerable grey area in Florida zoning laws, it was his opinion that if the city were to revoke the permit and Knowles were to take the matter to court, the judge would set aside the revocation.

City Commissioner Tom Altman told Kreidler the commission should accept Baker's advice on the matter, and, "as a commissioner, I'm not prepared to take action the attorney advises us would be indefensible."

He advised Kreidler the attorney ought to talk to his clients and if they want to continue action, they should begin legal action to resolve the situation.

Kreidler said in any case, he wants to advise his clients. Baker's opinion and he wants to see if they wish to appear before the commission to express their viewpoints.

Mayor Ralph Kirk said he had spoken to both Harrell and Knowles and there is apparently little chance of a compromise agreement between Knowles and the group of residents.

Kirk said he understands the problem can be traced to ill feeling which has existed for some time between Harrell and Knowles and Knowles refuses to appear before the commission, even in a workshop, to try to work out the difference of opinion.

Quaker shuts down

BELLE GLADE—The Quaker Oats furfural plant on Sugar Mill Road entered its second non-productive week Monday and General Manager Charles Roessler said plans for the summer call for general maintenance.

Roessler said the plant shut down because of a lag of sales of furfural, which can be traced directly to a slump in the foundry industry, which uses the majority of the industrial chemical.

There has been reduced demand in the European foundry industry, he said, "where we do most of our business, and in the American industry as well."

Roessler said eight men were laid off at the local plant last Monday but he anticipates no more lay-offs until the plant is expected to go back on the line in the fall.

In the meantime, he said the company is performing routine maintenance which would normally be done by outside contractors by utilizing in-house labor and working at a slower pace.

"It's a temporary thing," he said, "and we're going to se it to take care of things around here."

Miss Virginia Bolen weds Mr. Burgess

Miss Margaret Virginia Bolen and Mr. Thomas Edward Burgess, III, were united in marriage Saturday, March 5 at 7:00 o'clock in the evening at the Clemson United Methodist Church in Clemson, S.C. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C.W. Bolen of Clemson. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Ed Burgess of Belle Glade.

The Reverend Henry Gene Dagherhart, brother-in-law of the groom, performed the double ring ceremony before a setting of spiral candelabra draped with greenery. A large floral arrangement of yellow, peach, and white daisies, glads, carnations, and roses was featured on the platform. Few markers were peach ribbon.

Mrs. Carl McHugh, organist, presented a program of wedding music. The traditional wedding marches were used.

Mr. Kieran Irmir sang an original love song before the ceremony and "The Irish Blessing" as a benediction.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight satin trimmed with Alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls, featuring long tapered sleeves with lace inserts, a long full self train and a bodice covered with lace, forming a sweetheart neckline. The hemline was encircled with a deep border of pointed lace. Her silk illusion fingertip length veil was attached to a matching lace cap. For something old she wore a lavender belonging to her maternal grandmother. For something blue she wore a blue garter. She carried a bouquet of white roses and baby's breath, with green eucalyptus and white tube roses forming streamers and centered with a removable corsage of two white orchids.

Miss Carla Burgess, sister of the groom, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Ginny Gayle and Jeannie Longley, both of Columbia, South Carolina. The attendants were attired in floor length, V necked peach sheath dresses with matching capes trimmed with self ruffles forming a train. Each carried a nosegay styled bouquet of yellow and white daisies, peach carnations and roses and centered with a white iris. Streamers were formed of green eucalyptus.

T. Ed Burgess served his son as best man. Ushers were David Presley of Columbia, South Carolina; Ramsey Koon of Newberry, South Carolina; and Kevin Young of West Palm Beach. The tuxedos were dark brown with brown velvet lapels and vests. The groom's boutonniere was a white rose matching the bridal bouquet; groomsmen's boutonnieres were peach colored roses.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bolen chose a floor length turquoise taffeta skirt with a white hand embroidered cutwork blouse. Mrs. Burgess, mother of the bride, wore a floor length gown of Limoges pink quina velvet featuring an empire waist and long, full sleeves. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

The parents of the bride entertained guests with a reception following the ceremony in the Purple Room of the Clemson House. The room was tastefully decorated with palms. Guests were invited to have refreshments at tables which were covered with white cloths and featuring bouquets of flowers matching the flowers in the church. The bride's table was centered with a four-tiered white wedding cake topped with a china bride and groom hand painted to resemble the features of the bride and groom. Each guest received a hand made ceramic bell painted with the inscription "Margie and Ted, March 5, 1977." After a wedding cruise to Nassau and Freeport, the bride and groom are at home in Columbia, South Carolina.

MEN WORKING

This is the sign that should be lifted high in our beloved country — "Men Working." Men working with all they have and are, for a country that must show the world how to live in brotherhood and love and peace under God.

Let us resolve to dedicate anew our lives and our talents to our country and our God when we attend church

MEN AND EQUIPMENT WORKING

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long prosper and the freedom which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, we should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Medical Society urges breast X-Rays

Despite the recent publicity about potential dangers of mammography screening for possible breast cancer, the Palm Beach County Medical Society is urging women to have the breast X-ray taken.

Mammography means X-ray of the breast to determine whether cancer is present. Use of diagnostic X-ray is not in question. Whatever danger may exist comes from the possibility that the X-ray itself may cause cancer.

There still are unknown factors in this situation, the medical societies concede, but given the existing state of medical knowledge, some practical guidelines for mammography are offered.

1. Any woman, regardless of age, with signs or symptoms that indicate breast cancer (such as a lump) should have a mammogram.

2. A woman who has a high risk of breast cancer (strong family history, previous breast cancer, no pregnancy before 30 years of age) should receive periodic screening examinations, including mammography.

3. Periodic screening should be done for all women over 50.

4. Women under 50 with symptoms should not be screened until further facts are discovered on the benefits and risks.

ANSWERS TO PAHOKEE'S FUTURE

We have a unique opportunity in Pahokee denied to most larger cities... we have an opportunity to re-build sections of our city through new building and renovation of the old. We have to show those who would not meet building standards and who take advantage of our citizens that they aren't welcomed here... that they CAN'T do business here. We have to do it regardless of local politics. We have to stick to our zoning ordinances in order to protect the property of the people who already have their homes and businesses here.

Council candidates meet with merchants

PAHOKEE—Attention focused on high water and garbage rates as area merchants questioned City Council candidates at a Chamber of Commerce Coffee held at the chamber hall at 8:00 a.m. Tuesday.

Four merchants and four candidates showed up to discuss the city's problems. The three candidates from Group I, incumbent J. Ray Hatton, Marie Funderburk and W.E. (Billy) McKinstry and from Group II, Ross Spear attended. The remaining two candidates from Group II, Curtis Miners and Thomas McMahon were unable to attend.

Leading off the discussion was merchant Ellisha Baines, owner of Baines Superette on 408 So. Lake Ave., Pahokee, who stated, "If my water bill keeps going up, it's going to run me out of business."

Baines said that previously his bill had increased from $20 to $100 at which time he approached the City Council and got a reduction on the bill, but now it is steadily rising and was up to $80 as of last month's bill.

The city does have problems and we're not trying to hide them," Hatton replied. "We've been working to try to correct it...We've had a real serious problem with water. There are still some meters that aren't being read...At one point, 50% of the meters weren't being read," Hatton said.

Candidate Marie Funderburk, following a discussion on the fact that sometimes meters are not read but individuals are billed on an average basis, stated "I don't like the way they estimate."

McKinstry, a former Water Commissioner, offered the idea that the Utility Dept. used to take averages of them, when they finally did read the meters, the bill would be a lot higher. "You menters can't be blamed except in very few cases, for high water bills," he said. "It's the city's problem to satisfy the customer."

McKinstry continued, "the city should show people there is a leak. If somebody has a problem with a bill, the city should locate it."

The City of Pahokee's garbage system was also discussed with need for improvement. Mrs. Doris Sasser of Glades Oil Co. expressed her opinion that this is the poorest garbage service we've ever had in Pahokee. She continued, "I believe in paying for any service you get. I'm not griping but some people are paying exorbitant prices and getting terrible service."

Candidate Funderburk, after stating that the present system is not as efficient as the old one using dumpsters, asked those present, "Have you ever seen these older women try to push that thing (garbage container) from the house to the road?...It was a lot better when they came by and picked it up." And, "where we are using four or five of these containers, before we had one and it stayed there," Funderburk said.

"At one time, businesses weren't paying anything," Hatton said, and "businesses still aren't paying their fair share. We're going to correct it but it will take time and input from you (the merchants). If we had some good management up there it would solve a lot of the problems, but we don't have it."

Mrs. Sasser suggested that the city run a feasibility study on every commercial pick up in town, noting the number of containers used and pick-ups made to adjust the rates accordingly instead of issuing a flat business rate.

All four candidates agreed that management was a real problem.

Council reviews studies

PAHOKEE—A rather short session as several controversial issues were discussed at Tuesday night's city council meeting.

In the absence of Chairwoman Wynia Cummings, Councilman Bob Welty chaired the meeting. Welty made a complaint concerning a recent inventory that was conducted by Mr. Wilson of Wilson's Inventory System of Jacksonville, listing the equipment located in each department of the city.

Because of numerous discrepancies in the inventory, which is required by the state, Welty disagreed with a request that the department heads and the council be responsible for the equipment. "There are at least 20 discrepancies in the utility department. I myself won't be responsible. These inventories are ridiculous," Welty said, considering the way equipment is jumbled up and traded from department to department. "I think something should be done to straighten it out and now," Welty stated. Council agreed to try to get in touch with Mr. Wilson over the inventory.

"I'm 100% in favor of an inventory of what we have in the city. I think this is a good start on keeping up with property, but we need a correct inventory," Councilman Norma Norman said.

Upon the recommendation of Councilman Ray Hatton, the council agreed to file a protest with the Area Planning Board and with the University of Florida over an incorrect population count as compared to a recent head count made by Russell & Axon Engineers. The protest will include the updated current population figure and projected figure for the year 2000. Russell & Axon's survey showed a count of 6,514 present population with a projected figure of 12,000, the former figure being more than the University of Florida's count of 5,813. James Sloane, engineer for Russell & Axon, however, noted that their count included people outside of the city limits, but he did not know what was included in the other population studies.

A motion made by Mr. Hatton to have Adler Associates conduct a management review of the city died due to the lack of a second.

The review, Hatton said, would cost the city approximately $10,000 or $11,000 all together but would be completed in two phases. The review would have supplied the city an outline of operations and recommendations on upgrading the departments.

As recommended by the mayor, the council voted to enclose the patio area of the Chamber of Commerce building and make it into office space.

Council also voted to resurface the tennis courts immediately and to put up a temporary fence around the courts. The mayor was instructed to see that the lights on the courts are sufficiently provided and aimed.

On the first reading, council voted to adopt ordinance 77-4 dealing with the purchasing powers of city officials. Mayor Padgett had vetoed a previous purchase power increase but made no commitment on the present ordinance.

City to get new fire hydrants

PAHOKEE—In the city council meeting Tuesday night, council agreed to the purchase of 15 new fire hydrants and agreed that a study needs to be made of the fire department to increase its rating and to increase fire protection.

"We should find out what we need to do without spending money and not upgrading the fire department," Mayor Duncan Padgett said. The Pahokee Fire Department is presently rated eighth on a scale of one to ten, ten being the lowest.

Council agreed to advertise for 15 breakaway fire hydrants and five fire kits and to have an insurance survey made of the service. James Sloane, engineer from Russell and Axon engineering firm, said he thought he knew of a few insurance firms who would make a survey and a recommendation free of charge.

"Before our department gets caught in another cramp, we need to get another fireman, then when one of us two firemen get sick, there will be someone to man the station," Fire Chief Cecil Phillips said. An application from Larry Wayne Gorschuch was received by council for the position of fireman. Councilman Bob Welty offered an amendment to the application. "I'd like to see some type of intelligence test done on the applicants. We need somebody working for us who can read and write," Welty said, noting he had nothing against the applicant.

The council also agreed to authorize City Clerk Betty McCoy to write to Adler & Associates, city consultants, and authorize them to make application for state and federal grants for the purchase of new fire equipment.

Fire totals farm duplex

PAHOKEE—A Monday afternoon fire totaled a duplex at 1820 Belle Glade Rd., Pahokee, owned by Vandegrift-Williams Farms, Inc. Residents of the home were Lottie Mae Polk and seven children but only three people were in the building at the time of the fire, Fire Chief Cecil Phillips said.

No personal injuries were reported but the duplex, room numbers 105 and 107, was a "total loss," Chief Phillips said. Cause of the fire is under investigation.

Commission allows scavengers

At the April 12 meeting of the County Commission, scavengers were given the go ahead to resume their work. With modifications to a staff recommendation, the commission decided to let the scavengers back on several sanitary landfills—Lantana, Riviera Beach, Boca Raton and Pahokee.

Representatives of the so-called "junkies" informed the commission they would be willing to conform with most regulations, including no alcohol on dumpsters, salvaging at their own risk, and an increase in permit fees.

The scavengers had been stopped since March 1 because of a November ruling by the commission but an appeal two weeks ago caught the attention of the board. In other Glades action, former County Commissioner E.W. (Bud) Weaver told the commissioners he was against a new land use plan for the Glades area.

Representing the Farm Bureau, Weaver said he favored the other plan which calls for housing within three miles of the Lake Okeechobee shoreline in the western section of the county, area Planning Board advisors have recommended to the commission a density favoring agricultural zoning as opposed to residential.

Bicyclists will enter Pahokee

PAHOKEE—If the group is running on schedule, the Junior Olympic Bicyclists of the Palm Beaches will pass through Pahokee between 9:00 and 9:30 a.m. Sunday during their 50 mile road race, announced W.F. (Butch) Mosely, racing director. "A breakaway" group will probably be out ahead," Mosely said.

Palm Beach Velo Sport Chain-wheel Drive bicycle racing club is hosting this race, one of five Junior Olympic Bicycle Races, serving as a basis of selection for the United States Cycling Federation Junior World's Team

"Mayor Padgett was very helpful," Mosely said.

Church of God joins TV boycott

PAHOKEE—It is expected that over a quarter of a million persons will turn off their television sets during the week of April 11-18 as part of a four-phase positive protest being sponsored nationwide by the Church of God denomination. Pastor Ben McClamery of the local Church of God has announced that his congregation is joining in this effort.

"We believe that it is time to do something more than just complain about current television programming," the pastor stated. "We intend to take personal action, beginning in our homes, that hopefully will bring about positive change in viewing habits and eventually in the media itself."

According to the announcement from the denominations Family life commission in Cleveland, Tennessee, the week of Non-Viewing is the initial phase of a four-phase program to be carried over a period of ten months. The first part of the program will be followed by an emphasis on family television control.

In September a nationwide survey of viewers will be conducted to determine the ten highest rated programs as well as the ten lowest rated. The sponsors of the ten lowest-rated programs will be written and asked to reconsider their sponsorship of these shows.

Finally, in January, if no positive response has been received from the sponsors, a product boycott will be organized as a protest against the sponsorship of undesirable programming. Along with the product boycott, a letter-writing campaign to television networks and to local television stations will be promoted.

The Church of God is one of several denominations that are planning organized campaigns to stop the proliferation of television programs which emphasize violence and sex.

Rep. Lewis gives session insight

To all of my friends in Palm Beach County:

Thank you for allowing me to use this method of communication with you. It is virtually impossible to personally speak on the various issues with each and every one. Therefore, it is my intention to advise you of the issues through the medium of this newsletter. My staff and I will do our best to communicate the issues as we see them through Legislative Insight.

Despite our problems, Florida has a bright, promising future. We must channel our energies toward reduction of unemployment by broadening our economic base. The Legislature last year increased the budget for promoting increased Tourism and Economic Development. This year I expect to see the Legislature again properly fund these areas so vital to reducing our unemployment and stimulating our economy. We must encourage and stimulate business that is in concert with a clean environment to locate in Florida. We must work to eradicate the anti-business syndrome that has harmed our Economic Development during the past several years.

I am committed to our states fiscal affairs to work in dealing with the burden placed on the private sector and will work to lighten that load as much as possible. The mere fact that state revenues have been less than anticipated during the past few years is a good indication that the private sector has less to spend.

As I look to the days ahead, I see taxes as probably the biggest issue. There is much talk about raising revenues through new or additional taxes. I believe the Legislature will spend considerable time both in committee and in floor session on this issue. Currently, there is a heavy demand from various sources to increase our revenues and spending in the areas of Education, Highways and Transportation, Health Services and Prisons. Some of the tax sources suggested to raise revenues by the Governor and various legislators include: increased sales tax to 5%, additional taxes on Beer, Liquor, Cigarettes, Phosphate and the list continues on and on. Tax relief measures are also being proposed in the areas of Reduced Inventory Tax, exemption of first 750 Kilowatt hours from Municipal Utility Tax and Property Tax Relief "Circuit Breaker" program for homeowners and Renters. At this time it is too early to make the determination if additional taxes are needed. Normal growth this year will provide about 157 million dollars in revenues for next year's budget, without any new taxes. Many decisions must still be made, so it appears that my next newsletter will provide more information about our budget for next year which will be over five billion dollars.

As we continue to examine those issues of importance coming up this session, automobile insurance will again be of tremendous importance. Lowering the cost of automobile and health insurance without lowering the benefits will be looked at very carefully. Other key issues will be revising the retirement benefits to senior citizens and teachers; improving both secondary and higher education through increased funding; limiting persons to a 72 hours waiting period after purchasing a handgun; and cracking down on the career criminal. There is a legislation in both the House and Senate that would allow you the voter to decide on single member districts, also in both houses is a big move to revise the election laws in our state.

These are just a few of the many proposals, we in the Legislature will face this year.

Now, I would like to outline for you some issues I am proposing. Though quite controversial, permitting the administration of Laetrile in Florida is something that I am working on very diligently. Laetrile or Vitamin B-17 is an which has much support as a treatment for cancer, when used in conjunction with other known and accepted treatment. There is much evidence that Laetrile reduces or eliminates pain in cancer patients and no evidence that Laetrile is harmful.

This is not a cure for cancer but an avenue of hope to the terminally ill. I am also proposing that a Commission of Aging be created in Florida that would develop and strengthen the services available for the aged in the state by coordinating the existing services provided by federal, state, and local departments and agencies, and private agencies and facilities. As stated earlier, cracking down on the career criminal is going to be of particular importance to me. I have proposed legislation that alters the sentence of the habitual offender (professional criminal).

If passed into law, this legislation will make Florida the most unpopular state in which to commit to crime. Another law which I have proposed speaks to those of you who are condominium owners. It deals with recreational leases by allowing the condominium unit owner to form a special taxing district by referendum, with various provisions to purchase at a price equitable to both the unit owner and the developer.

Other various legislation I have filed includes: a provision to allow each district the opportunity to vote by referendum to increase the sales tax 1% with the increase going to district school systems; provisions for the Florida Highway Patrol to participate in educational incentive programs for increased salary benefits, and the revision of the Florida Statutes for handicapped persons. These are some of my proposals which will benefit you, the citizen of Palm Beach County.

In my next newsletter I plan to give you some action on several pieces of legislation which are outlined here.

This year should be one of great interest. I urge all of you to express your views on those issues of importance to you. YOU, my constituents are my biggest issue coming before the Legislature and with your input I can better represent you.

Yours for BETTER GOVERNMENT.

Sincerely,
Tom Lewis

The Department of Offender Rehabilitation has announced that Glades Correctional Institute employees Fredrick T. Davis and Timothy O. Story recently participated in the Correctional Training Institute at Raiford, Florida. This is the tenth group to enroll in the minimum standards curricula, which is required by law. The course is a full time, 160 hour program and the graduates can earn nine semester credits for successful completion.

with the City of Pahokee. However, Hutton said, "communication is probably a more important problem now than management. The employees don't feel they have to talk to the public."

All were opposed to a City Manager concept with Hutton stating that the city needs a "businessman or businesswoman to call the shots." We need an administrator out of the political realm, Hutton said. "The administrator should be under the jurisdiction of the council," Funderburk said. The council is not enforcing the policies they do set," McKinstry said.

With an increase of from 1/2 million to a $2 1/2 million the city needs a $2 1/2 million the need for new management. "Betty (McCoy, City Clerk) has assumed the responsibility of city manager but she doesn't have the authority to go with it," Hutton said.

Hutton also noted the bad personnel problem, with the hiring of people who do not even fill out employment applications. "We're hiring people who can't even read and write to read meters," Hutton said, "and there's an exorbitant unemployment rate because there are no records on the employees."

In a discussion on the proposed shopping center to be located on Larrimore Road next to the football field, Hutton stated that he was in favor of it and Funderburk said "we shouldn't fight the shopping center," but delved into the question of a different location.

McKinstry voiced his opposition to the city's takeover of the state park on the site of Lake Okechobee. "I'm sure it would bring in additional money for the city, but I shudder to think of what it would look like in a year's time with the city running it."

The six candidates, three in Group I and three in Group II, will be competing for the two council

South Bay Budget is satisfactory

SOUTH BAY-City Commissioners were generally satisfied by an overview of the city's current budget status in a workshop Tuesday night.

The workshop was requested last week by Finance Director A.R. Grigby, who said he wanted the commissioners to get an idea of how the city is living up to the budget it approved six months ago for this fiscal year.

Several pages of figures were summarized at the bottom line with the statements the city has collected 54.8 per cent of the expected revenues and has spent 60.8 per cent of the projected expenses.

Theoretically, Grigby explained half way through the fiscal year, both figures would normally be 50 per cent.

He said the city is ahead on revenue because of the housing project constructed by South Bay Growers and unexpected expenses and one-shot purchases explain the reason expenses are running ahead of normal.

Cash prizes to be given

Easter coloring contest winners are told

The winners are in for the Belle Glade Herald-Everglades Observer's first annual Easter coloring contest.

The parents of the winners should be proud of themselves as their children won one of six prizes out of more than 500 entries.

There were two divisions and the judge picked the winners for their artistic abilities using each page as a category. Unfortunately, some children didn't read closely the rules at the top and one picked third place winner had to be disqualified because she was in the wrong category.

The winners for grades one through three and their store entries which won them their prize are:

First place, Beth Parramore, age 8, Belle Glade, Kim and Tim's Kerner. ($15 first prize.)

Second place, Kumbo Keene, age 7, Christian Day School, Time Saver. ($10 second prize.)

Third place, Meckie Gomez, age 8, Belle Glade, Belle Glade Herald. ($5 third prize.)

The winners for grades four through six and their store entries which won them their prize are:

First place, Twyler McDonald, age 9, Badcock Furniture, Belle Glade. ($15 first prize.)

Second place, Lourdes Cano, age 9, Gilbert's Jewelry. ($10 second prize.)

Hubert Hernandez, 10, Paho kee, Paho kee Planter. ($5 third prize.)

Although there is no cash prize, one child will receive a certificate of artistic ability from the Herald-

Observer for best artist of the contest. That child is Nicole Harrell, age 10, who did not place because she colored the wrong pageful of pictures in the contest for her grade and age group.

In next week's edition, the Herald-Observer will have pictures of the children receiving their prizes from the local merchants who sponsored them.

The Herald donated all prize monies for the contest.

"We found the children's excitement in participating in this contest exciting to us and we want to do more of his type of thing," said Herald Advertising Manager Andy Campanaro. "We're looking at doing coloring contests every Christmas and every Easter now. The kids love it."

Bluegrass is highlight of the grand opening of new Ben Franklin

By Andy Campanaro

At Ben Franklin's grand opening, customers were treated to the raucous sounds of The Limited Edition - as were the listeners of WSWN for three days.

Personal friends of local bluegrass deejay Simon Train, the Limited Edition is composed of four straight and intelligent young men who graciously submitted to an interview at their motel one night.

The individuals are: Bob Shuler, who plays guitar, banjo, mandolin and lead vocal. Bob was born in West Virginia and has been playing since age five. He played with several bluegrass groups in Tennessee and Florida as well as working as a single act. Bob also worked four years as an engineer with WSM radio and the Grand Ole Opry.

Banjo, guitar bass, and tenor vocal is Dave Styppe. After growing up in Pittsburgh, Pa., Dave moved to Hollywood, Fla. with his brother. He has been playing for three years. Dave graduated in machine tool technology in Pittsburgh and his previous jobs include printing, teaching metal working in night school and teaching banjo.

Dave's brother Paul who plays dobro, guitar, and sings bass vocal. Paul's geographic history parallels his brother.

Rick Thuston, 29, from Hollywood, plays bass and is the newest member of the group.

The group has national ambitions and feel their style is what will make them jump into national prominence if they just are patient.

"Sure, it's contacts in this business," Bob said. "But it's twice as hard in this business because you're catering to a minimum of people who know anything about the music. But we're in this form of music not because we think it's the wave of the future so much but because bluegrass to us is the best form of music to express what's inside."

The group agrees that it's a music all generations can enjoy and do. "Older people like

Employment census will be conducted in area

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the workweek of April 18-22. Thomas W. McWhirter, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Atlanta, announced today.

In addition to the usual questions on current employment, this month's survey will have additional questions about swine flu vaccinations since October 1976; and the use of food stamps in 1976 and the first quarter of scientific sample of approximately 70,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation.

For example, in February the survey indicated that of the 96.1 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 89.0 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 7.5 percent, up from 7.3 percent in January but substantially below the recession peak of 8.5 percent reached in the second quarter of 1975.

Information supplied by people participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential who will visit households in this area include: Mrs. Doris Rosenberg, Mrs. Betty Garriga, Mrs. Selma Leavitt.

bluegrass and country, and younger people like blue grass and rock. Those that are narrowminded about bluegrass usually are older and in the music profession... there's still a lot of people that believe anyone who plays bluegrass has to be an ignorant, uncultured kick.

Belying that myth, though, is the university crowd, now. Bluegrass started hitting FSU and UF campuses in 1972 and in the past five years, whole nightclubs have built up their image around the music. The younger crowds make bluegrass a ripping, snorting, ultra-loud, beat-conscious stomping kind of music, though, compared to the delicate the intricate chordology heard on many of the group's records.

Asked if there was a national bluegrass following, Paul said, "it's in pockets. It's all over, but in pockets, like certain sections of D.C., Baltimore, Louisville, Washington state, California, but you don't find it in every town and every city - not like country."

Why? "Because bluegrass music has never had national exposure like

Hunting Seasons

Dates are announced for upcoming year

TALLAHASSEE-Florida sportsmen can circle the second Saturday in November as the start of the 1977-78 hunting season.

The Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, meeting Wednesday, April 6, in Tallahassee, gave its approval in principle to hunting and fishing regulations with the kickoff date for general hunting season set for November 12.

The Commission's final adoption of the proposed regulations will come at the May 13 meeting in Tallahassee at which time changes in the Wildlife Code, which were also approved in principle, will be adopted.

Deer, turkey and wild hog season under the proposed dates, will run from Nov. 12 through 22 in Northwest Florida and Jan. 8 in the rest of the state.

Small game season would run Nov. 12 through Feb. 26 in the entire state with statewide archery season beginning Sep. 10 and concluding Oct. 2.

The Northwest Region would again have a primitive-weapon-only season lasting from Jan. 28 through Feb. 12.

A proposed statewide muzzle-loading season was voted down by the Commission. With present complement of personnel and the workload resulting from the dove season and other activities occurring at this time, it was decided that adequate policing the additional hunt would be impossible.

Spring turkey gobbler dates would be Mar. 4 through 26 south of State Road 51, March 11 through April 2 north of State Road 50 and March 18 through April 9 in the Northwest Region.

Possession and daily bag limits remain the same as 1976-77. In addition, the Commission adopted the regulations for the 49 fish management areas it operates throughout the state.

In other action, the Commission voted to participate in the National Rifle Association's Help Our Wildlife program which is already underway in 25 states. The program is designed to encourage and provide a means for sportsmen to report violations of wildlife and hunting laws.

The next Commission meeting has been scheduled for May 13 in Tallahassee.

Winds here lately unusually brisk

BELLE GLADE-If Glades residents feel unusually "breezed out," they have good reason, what with unusually high and prolonged winds adding to the unusual nature of the weather in the first quarter of 1977.

Added to the wetter January years, the coldest January ever and the first snowfall in the history of the Glades, the winds over the past several weeks may seem to some like the straw that broke the camel's back.

C.R. Wilcoxon of the Agricultural Research and Education Center east of town said an instrument to measure wind velocities, which was installed two years ago, indicated winds of 33 miles per hour both Monday and Tuesday and gusts reaching 28 miles per hour last Thursday and 29 on Friday.

"That isn't the highest winds we've recorded here," Wilcoxon said. "We've had 40 mile an hour winds a couple of times in the past two years, but that was only for an hour or so."

The winds have sent clouds of muck billowing across the landscape, sometimes obscuring vision, and have kept boaters, even professional fishermen, off Lake Okeechobee in large numbers.

PAHOKEE-After a week off the spring break, the students of PHS seem to be filled with enthusiasm to complete the remainder of this school year.

The tennis team is looking forward to the District Championship Tournament which will be held this Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Fort Pierce Central. The team, along with Mrs. Serreas, sponsor, is expecting good performances by team members in hopes of placing the squad high in the district standings.

Country Club on Monday, April 18.

The baseball team, fresh off their first victory, will be playing two games this week. The first was against Glades Central on Tuesday and on Friday of this week the team will travel to Jupiter to face the Jupiter squad.

The track team is now preparing to defend their State Track Championship which they easily captured last year. The team is planning to repeat last year's performances.

Okeechobee

subject of TV special

Lake "Big Water" or Okeechobee, as the Indians so aptly named it, will be the topic of discussion on a special program, Sunday April 17, on WFTV, Channel 5, at 6:30 p.m.

The program will explore the history of Lake Okeechobee, its importance to South Florida, and its future. It will be hosted by weatherman, Glenn Burns.

Included in the special will be interviews with representatives from the water management district, the game and fresh water fish commission, and the Belle Glade Historical Society.

Glades Central wins track meet

BELLE GLADE—The Glades Central track team edged out Cardinal Newman last week in a dual meet at the coast school, picking up 65½ points to the Crusaders' 57½ in the Tuesday confrontation.

The Raiders thrashed picked up only six first places to Newman's nine but Central's strength in second and third place finishes made the difference in one of the best meets of the regular season.

"We only carried eight boys ever with us," Raider Coach Willie McDonald said, "so we had a lot of doubling up." He said he also had to start new competitors in events they've never attempted before because some of the regular starters were out.

One of those events was the 120 yard high hurdles, won by Wilenson of Newman in 16.1 seconds, but Wilenson was followed in by Bradley and Johnson of Central, neither of whom had run the 120 hurdles before, which gave Glades Central four points to Newman's five in the event.

The shot put was won by Butler of Newman with a 45'3" heave, followed by Fitzpatrick in second place and Freeman of Central tied with Kissner of Newman for third place.

Dyett of Newman won the discus, throwing it 122'3". Fitzpatrick took second and Kissner placed third.

Johnson of Newman won the 100 yard dash in 10.1 seconds, followed by Martin and Johnson of Glades Central.

Dunne of Newman won first in the mile run in 4:50.5, with Wilson and O'Neal of Central placing second and third.

The Raiders picked up five points with none going to Newman in the 880 yard relay when the Central team of Robertson, Walker, Johnson and Martin winning in 1:33.3.

Glades Central swept the 440 yard dash, with Johnson posting a winning time of 52.9 seconds and Byrd and Scott placing second and third.

The Raiders picked up another six points in the 300 yard intermediate hurdles when Bradley won it in 41.9 seconds, followed by Royce of Newman and Silvers of Central.

The 880 yard run was won by Swindle of Cardinal Newman in 2:04.3, with F-mblin of Newmann and Knowles coming in second and third.

The Glades Central sprint medley relay team of Adderly, Sheppard, Andrews and Knowles picked up another clean five points by finishing in 2:04.5 time.

Johnson of Newman won the 220 yard dash in 23.2 seconds, followed by Martin and Walker, both of Glades Central.

The Crusaders also won first place and lost second and third in the two-mile run when Dunne won in 10:28.5, followed in by Wilson and O'Neal.

The mile relay was picked up by Glades Central's team of Bradley, Johnson, Byrd and Johnson in 3:33.

The Raiders lost out completely in two of the three jumping events. There was no long jump since Newman doesn't compete in that event but there was a pole vaulting event which the Raiders don't have either.

The vault was won by Titzell with a vault of 9'6", followed by Gallagher and Grimes, all of Newman.

Sports

Martin of Central won the long jump with a 21'6½" leap, followed by Sheppard in second place and Wilenson of Newman in third.

Glades Central will next compete in the Palm Beach County meet Friday at Twin Lakes High School and then will go into the end of the season meets.

The conference meet will be held April 22 at Atlantic High, the district meet April 30 at Jupiter, the regional meet May 7 at John I. Leonard and the state meet May 13-14 at Winter Park.

Girls win, too...

BELLE GLADE—The Glades Central girls' track team picked up nine of 15 first place awards Monday night to win the Supracas Conference West girls' track meet at Boca Raton.

The Raiders girls beat out the Cardinal Newman team, 125 points to 106 and left three other schools trailing in the dust as Atlantic made 74 points. Suncoast won 34 points and Jupiter picked up 11.

Coach Jay Seider said the girls swept the sprint events, although the times were somewhat slower than usual because they were running into a strong headwind.

Kathleen Ford won the shot put 13'6"7½, heave, with Elaine Baines and Cynthia Johnson taking third and fourth places and Judy White taking sixth.

Rosa Wilkerson placed second in the discus while Miss Ford made third, Marletha Peavey won fourth and Janice Wright placed fifth.

Janet Wright won the high jump with a leap of 4'10" and Marletha Peavey won the long jump with a 15'5" effort, followed by Terry Osborne in fourth place and Janet Wright in fifth.

Bicyclists will race on Sunday

A field of young bicycle racers attempting to build points toward the Junior Olympics will zip through Belle Glade and Pahokee Sunday morning in the only Junior Olympic Selection Race south of North Carolina.

The riders, sponsored by Palm Beach Velo Sport, the bicycle racing club of the Palm Beaches, will leave 20 Mile Bend Park between 7 and 7:30 a.m. and are expected to breeze through Belle Glade between 8 and 8:15 a.m.

The bicyclists will ride west on US41 to the Main Street Bridge, cross Hillsboro Canal to SR 717, ride west to SR 715 and take US 98 back to 20 Mile Bend on a 50-mile loop course.

Butch Mosely, the race director, said the field of racers will include Andy Weaver of Coconut Creek High School near Pompano Beach, the current Junior National Champion.

"A 'breakaway' may be formed by Belle Glade," Mosely said, "but I believe the group will probably be intact after only 20 miles."

Pahokee Ford is co-sponsor at tournament

ROYAL PALM BEACH—La Mancha Golf and Country Club has scheduled its first Pro-Am Tournament for Saturday and Sunday, April 23-24.

Entries, at $100 a person or $400 a team, now are being accepted. Pro Robert (Hawk) McMillan said cashier checks or money orders for teams consisting of one professional and three amateurs may be sent to Boulevard Title Insurance Agency, Inc., in care of McMillan, at 122 Country Club Drive, Royal Palm Beach.

Proceeds of the tourney will benefit the Gulf Stream Council, Boy Scouts of American.

If the 50-team is realized, McMillan said prize money and giveaway prizes will total $6,000.

In addition, a 1977 Mustang II is being donated by Pahokee Ford and Budget Rent-A-Car for the first hole-in-one on the 176-yard Par 3 eighth hole. A two dollar donation will be asked of those trying for the ace.

Local bass clubs hold challenge tourney

PAHOKEE—The Pahokee Tackle Testers Club held their regular monthly meeting on April 4 at the Everglades Federal Community Room with Buddy Ramsey, president, presiding.

Plans are being made for a tournament to be held against the Belle Glade Club on Sunday, April 17.

Following the tournament against Belle Glade, the two clubs will have a fish fry at the Belle Glade Marina.

The next regular monthly meeting will be held on May 2 beginning at 8:00 p.m. in the Everglades Federal Community Room.

Minding the Store

Tire store opens, foilage retail

By Andy Campanaro

A new tire store is in operation at 749 NW Avenue L in that big warehouse there. An Italian fellow who loves guns, dogs and women (I don't know what order) runs it named Dave Bartoloni.

He opened up March the fourth with a bunch of tire deals and he says: "I think it's high time that Belle Glade had some reasonable competition in the tire field. I think the established tire businesses in the Glades are pricing themselves out of business."

Strong words, but Dave's a strong guy. Born in Long Island (that's Lone Guyland in New Yawkesee), he was educated there and between there and here, did what everybody really wants to do in their 20's. He went to California and lived in the "mod" scene then just took off and floated around the country for a couple of years.

(Not so bad, folks. Did it myself for a few months.) He's been in Florida for seven years now and is moving into the Glades from West Palm Beach.

Starting in the tire business as a salesman, Dave says he finally started his own business "which this Belle Glade store is the culmination of."

Well, Dave Bartoloni is single and Italian and proprietor of his own store at a reasonable age. We welcome him and hope he makes a success of the business.

Up in Pahokee, Steve Wilkinson's Everglades Foliage has gone retail.

"We've been getting people coming in for as long as we've been open," says Steve, "wanting to buy plants and other foliage so we just decided to go retail."

The Wilkinsons live right behind their nursery and office in a beautifully developed trailer and yard. However comma they also have a rather playful Great Dane that stands about four feet tall and about five feet long and he does have a tendency to stop one's progress towards the Wilkinsons' front door.

The business has so much and such a variety of foliage it boggles the mind to set it down in type, but suffice to say they have hanging baskets, indoor foliage, potted material from three inches to 100 gallons, landscape ornaments and "anything a person could want is available upon ordering," Steve says.

There are services available in the area which are offered at no cost to the citizen. These deserved to be listed so I'm listing them herewith:

First, the Palm Beach County mobile library is in the Glades every other Tuesday afternoon at South Bay at 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. in front of the U.S. Post Office. They then move to Okeechobee Center at 3:15 through to 4:15 p.m. in the office parking lot.

Dates coming up for the above mentioned library services are April 26th, May 10th and 24th.

The mobile library is at Canal Point from 3:15 p.m. through 4:15 p.m. at the post office April 19th, and May 3, 17, and 21st.

Volunteers man a cardiovascular screening clinic which will test your body for heart, lung, and blood problems absolutely free. What you have to do is contact the county health department for an appointment and the health department will line up such an appointment at the Glades Hospital in Belle Glade on a Tuesday morning from 9 to 12 noon. The volunteers take an electrocardiogram, blood pressure and urinalysis (which is sent to the health department in Jacksonville where some eight tests are given).

The above tests are given free through the state of Florida and are the crucial checkup tests everybody ought to have annually.

TIDBITS

There's some 300 plus accounts in my area and if I don't get to you constantly, I hereby request if you have something you want to advertise, give me a call and I'll be down. You figure it out - 40 hours a week, eight hours in filing, writing news stories, interviewing, 32 hours left. That's one account every 10 minutes of the working day. Well, I like to spend time with my customers, have some coffee, find out about their business and discuss things, so 10 a day is good. But I'll always find time if you give me a call, so think about what you want people to know and do it.....personal note to T.B. - that was an ethical slip I made, fella, but it was my first and last one. That's better than most.....hope nobody fires that hanging "D" in the Community United Methodist Church sign.... I've been looking at it for five months and it serves as a focal point for philosophic thought.

Business Personality

Jim Gay

Jim Gay, 53, is now sales manager and advertising director at Siboney Motor Center on NW Ave. L. Gay was born and brought up in the Glades and served at the University of Florida for many years as assistant editor at the news bureau there and as sports director of publicity. A graduate of UF, he served in the navy during WWII for four and a half years. He and his wife live in West Palm Beach.

EVERYONE SEEMED to enjoy the opening of Belle Glade's newest store, Ben Franklin, Thursday. The store, featuring 9,000 square feet of floor space packed with merchandise, attracted a large crowd. These two youngsters were among those who came and took their share of the goodies available.

country music has had." Bob said. "Few radio stations play it as their only music and, other than festivals some clubs and universities, there are few opportunities to expose ourselves in public."

The group also mentioned that the average record-buying individual is about 13 years of age and the rocknroll people have made with that age group.

"If Deliverance" didn't do it (create national exposure), Rick said, "I don't know what will."

The group appears at Mother Tucker's in Fort Lauderdale and Johnny D's on Powerline Road, working in the week at the clubs and on weekends at appearances around the state.

Most people think a musician's life is one of ease, but the younger Stype argued that.

"This isn't any easy job. It's harder for us to do this job than work an eight-hour day...we traveled 80,000 miles last year...sometimes we drove 10 times longer than it took to play the concert. If it was 100 percent fun, you'd have to just play for yourself. People see us effortlessly doing a piece and they think maybe it just happens. If we want to work a song, we would find a piece of material and would literally do it note for note. We spend 20 hours a week just in practice time."

If you want to buy a really recent bluegrass album, you send $5.50 in money or check to Limited Edition, Rick Thaxton, 5653 Johnson Street, Hollywood, Florida 33021.

Vida Cristiana Latina

ESCRIBE JOSE ANTONIO GARCIA

Estamos viviendo en tiempos de angustia a nivel mundial, el ver a una persona que se diga feliz es una cosa extraña. Angustia, inseguridad, temor y frustraciones como torrentes han invadido al mundo entero, ni aun los países llamados "capitalistas" o "ricos" escapan a esta condición. Las drogas, los placeres, la vida de hip-hop, y el alcohol seguidos de suicidios ha sido la "langente" cotidiana por muchos.

Peró, sabe usted cual fue el año específico en que se agudizó este sufrimiento en escala mundial? que hizo que muchos clamaran en angustia con frases como: "Hoy nada es como antes" o "Ya es imposible vivir así".

El año 1914 marco el comienzo del mundo de seguridad y razón creativa...el mundo nunca ha sido el mismo lugar desde entonces... Fue un punto de viraje, y el mundo maravilloso, salmado y atractivo de ayer había desaparecido y jamás volvería a aparecer.

—Revela del libro Winston Churchill, tomo 2, por Randolph Churchill

Este año fue marcado en la profecía bíblica, dos y medio milenios con anticipación como un punto de viraje en la historia. Desde el año 807 a. de E.C. en que Babilonia captivo a el pueblo de Israel hasta el año de 1914 el mundo o las naciones se gobernaron sin interrupción divina y este período de tiempo Jesucristo lo llamo "El tiempo de los gentiles" o "Tiempo señalado de las naciones". Busque en San Lucas 21:24 para confirmar este hecho.

Hay dos cosas de importancia universal que sucedieron o comenzaron en el año de 1914, y que solo con investigación de la Biblia usted podrá comprobar; y esas son: 1) Santanas y los ángeles demoníacos fueron arrojados a la tierra y son la causa directa de las guerras, el hambre, el crimen, el desastre, el temor, la inseguridad y las tinieblas espirituales del momento actual que cada día se agudiza mas, y esto coincide exactamente con las señales que dio Jesucristo del fin del mundo.

2) Que Jesucristo que estuvo por casi 20 siglos sentado a la diestra del trono celestial de Dios, después de arrojar al Diablo y sus demonios a las inmediaciones de la tierra, HA COMENZADO A REINAR COMO REY EN LOS CIELOS. (Apocalipsis 12:7-12) El reino que usted pide en el "Padre Nuestro" es este mismo que ya esta funcionando actualmente en los cielos, y es el que acabara con todos los gobiernos opresivos e injustos que actualmente operan al genero humano. Por tanto querido lector, el Reino de Dios es la unica solución a los problemas mundiales, y como buenas nuevas la declamo por medio de este artículo que les su Biblia y compruebe que pronto la humanidad no gemira mas, pues el gobierno divino de Dios con su rey perfecto Jesus, entrara en unción y tomara las riendas de la tierra en esta misma generación. La inseguridad el temor y el replit de los linchos, pronto sera cosa del pasado. La salud, la vida, la paz, y las bendiciones por parte de Dios estan en un futuro muy cercano para los que jomen su fe en lo que dice la Biblia y creen en ella en una forma objetiva escudrinandola a ver que dice Dios. No pierda la oportunidad de disfrutar de estas promesas, lea su Biblia
